

Thelypteris yaucoensis

no common name – a fern

Family (nombre familia)

Kingdom (Plantae)

Status (Endangered)

Description

A terrestrial fern with fronds up to 52 cm long and a slender rhizome covered with brown scales. It has narrow leaves with pairs of elongated pinnae and simple venation. Its sori are small, with a barely visible indusium and covered with fine hairs. It is characterized by its slender structure and the presence of fine hairs on its tissues.

Location/Habitat

Found in high-elevation areas (850 to 1,200 meters) in the municipalities of Yauco and Ciales. It inhabits humus-rich soils on steep, shaded slopes and rocky outcrops within the subtropical rainforest.